The Member from Bradford Thinks tion of $1,000,000 -- Senate Passes the Bill Providing for Gymnastic Exercises in the Public Schools.

Harrisburg, June 22.-The general appropriation bill was reported to the house this morning from committee by Chairman Marshall. The measure scarries with it an appropriation of $16, 000,000. It is not yet in shape for final passage, and will be sent back to committee after it has passed second reading. A large number of appropriation bills for hospitals and other institutions throughout the state were also

A bill requiring the weighing of bituminous coal before screening passed second reading on a special order.

The Merrick bill providing for the distribution of the public school fund by giving one-third on the basis of the number of schools, one-third on the number of school children and the balance on the taxables was called up by Mr. Hammond, of Westmoreland The house got into a snarl over several attempts to amend the bill and finally further consideration was postponed

The senate bill allowing tunnel companies to charge for drainage was called up and passed finally. The house adjourned at I until 3 o'clock.

Almost the entire afternoon session of the house was given up to the consideration of senate amendments to house bills. On motion of Mr. North, of McKean, the Pittsburg "ripper" bill was recommitted to the municipal corporations committee. The house re fused to concur in the senate resolutles continuing the committee to investigate the convict labor system in Pennsylvania until the next session of the legislature.

The governor's veto of the bill authorizing the incorporation of pawn brokers was taken up and Mr. Conrade, of Philadelphia, appealed to the house to pass it over the executive's head. He said the bill was in the interest of charity and was similar to a law in force in New York city and many foreign cities. After further discussion the veto was sustained by a vote of 40 year to 90 nays,

HAMILTON ROAD BILL

The conference report on the Ham ilton road bill was called up by Mr. in townships and boroughs, $500. Phillips, of Chester, and adopted by a vote of 129 to 31. The measure now goes to the governor.

Mr. Piollett, of Bradford, who has the report because the bill only carries with it an annual appropriation of amount should be $1,000,000 a year. He said unless this was done it would not relieve the farmer of his cash tax. The agricultural classes are taxed more than they can stand and it is not fair, Mr. Piolett said, to put additional burdens upon them by passing such friends of good roads to pass the bill as reported from committee. The gen-Impression is that the executive will veto the measure.

These bills pased finally: Authorizing courts to inquire into the validity of judgments confessed and alleged to be fraudulent; authorizing the transfer of wholesale and retail liquor licenses from one person to another and from one place to another; requiring applicants for liquor licenses in Philadelphia to insert the advertisement in a German paper.

The Merrick school distribution was called up and a lively fight took place between the city members led by Mr Stewart, of Philadelphia, who are opposed to the proposition and the countrymen in charge of Mr. Moore, of Butler. Mr. Seyfert, of Lancaster, moved to go into committee of the whole for special amendment. The country members opposed this move and the motion was defeated. Mr. Wenk, of Forest, moved the previous question on the bill and on the question shall the main question be put the vote was 96 to 64 The bill then passed third reading and will be laid aside for printing. It will come up tomorrow for final passage. The house adjourned at 5:45 until 8

BLISS BEER BILLS.

They Are Amended So Radically That They Are Practically New Measnres ... Effects of New Law.

Harrisburg, June 22.-The senate met this evening to receive the report of the committee on judiciary general on the two Bliss beer bills. Mr. Grady, on behalf of the senate, presented these reports. The bills were read for the first time, and then they were amended so radically that they are now practically new bills.

Mr. Grady explained that the bills were so amended as to provide for graded license fees, in order to make the bills constitutional. "It was generally held," said he, "that one of the Bliss bills was unconstitutional, and these amendments will do away with this objectionable feature, and at the same time produce a greater amount of tevenue for the state. It includes the scheme to license brewers, distillers, wholesalers, bottlers, retailers, storekeepers and agents for foreign oncerns.

After Mr. Grady made this stateent, he offered the amendments, which were agreed to. Some of the nost important of them are these: Brewers, $1,000, with these excepions: For brewers of less than 750 parrels capacity, $250; less than 1,500 barrels, $500; less than 3,000 barrels, Distillers, $1,000, with these excepions: Distillers with a capacity of ess than 50 barrels, $200; less than 100 barrels, $300; less than 300 barrels, $500. Wholesalers in cities of the first and cond class, $1,000; in third class and Rottlers in cities of the first and secand class, $1,000; in cities of the third class and in townships and boroughs, $500. In addition to the foregoing, Mr. fought the bill at every stage, opposed Grady introduced two other amendments to the Bliss bills. One increases the retail liquor license, by adding an Mr. Piollett thought the additional $100, to the fee in boroughs and townships and an additional of $200 in cities of the first and second class. These increases are to be paid into the state treasury, and it is estimated that additional revenue to the raused.

Still another amendment to the Blis provides that the capital stock of all distilleries is to be taxed 71/2 mills.

Mr. Grady introduced a bill to raise revenue by taxation. It provides for a reclassification of the mercantile linse fees. The old classification is followed up to $50,000, and after that the rates are increased up to concerns doing a business of $5,000,000, in which case the license fee is $5,000,

CUBA IS NEAR TO LIBERTY

her civilization, of opportunity to take er proper place among the socially he western world.

Is Spanish statesmanship wise and strong enough to do this? Can Spansh pride be sufficiently humbled to enable the leaders of their government to meet the situation in this spirit and st'll maintain themselves in power?

Minister Woodford's first task is to duce them to solve the problem of ing Cuba complete autonomy. their own volition. If Spain will herself propose an adequate solution, it States to become an active factor in the settlement.

Probably the president will wait casonable time for information as to the manner in which Madrid receives our suggestions. Before making a definite proposal he will wish to know whether the Spanish are tractable or in an attitude of pride and stubbornness there will be but one course for the president to pursue. If, on the other hand, they show a willingness to meet the emergency in a proper spirit, the president will want to learn what it is they suggest before submitting definite proposals of his own.

But I am able to give important inermation concerning the mode of setin mind as an adequate treatment of the difficulty. The plan which to him seems the most promising is at this time, necessarily, more a principle than perfected scheme. When negotiations are reached will be time enough for details. Of these latter there will be many, complicated, difficult to arrange, many opportunities for friction and delay. But the end in view the president will keep constantly before him, and toward it he will steadily drive, though, of course, with all proper patience and diplomacy. It may take a year or more to reach a final adjustment, but an adjustment must be had. COMPLETE HOUSE RULE

The principle which controls the president in his approach to this most difficult and hazardous international problem is a very simple one, and one of Americanism. It may be expressed

1 Spain's active rule in Cuba is failure and can never give the people to the Spanish ministers. There is no of that island nor their near neighbors mason why this cannot be taken up peace, security and prosperity,
2. The people of Cuba have a right carly in August. From that time forto government of their own choosing and creation. 3. It is the right and duty of the Which Spain is to assume, for upon United States, as a great and interestit depends much history, and perhaps ed power, friendly to both Spain and the issue of war of peace between the Cuba, to assist in bringing about & United States and Spain.

change which will be for the best interest of all concerned.

The practical solution which the president has in mind is emancipation of Cuba from Spanish rule by establishment of complete and perfect local self-government, under the joint protection of Spain and the United States. In other words, Canadian autonomy for Cuba.. Spain will held titular sovereignity, but practically her sovereignity will be a mere thread, thinner than that which England holds over Canada. Cuba is to govern herself, have full control of her own affairs, her imposts, revenues, expenditures, civil and military establishments. The effect of this is obvious-nominally Spain retaining sovereignity; actually the con-trolling and restraining power is that of the United States.

As a necessary precedent to such a government Spain must withdraw her troops from the Island. There must come an end to that military rule which the mother government has maintained for four centuries. It goes without saying that the moment Spain evacuates Cuba the Island becomes virtually independent. It is believed the moral pressure of the United States would be strong enough to maintain order and adherence to the compact without the employment of armed forces. In other words, Spain's titular sovereignty, empty and meaningless, might be preserved for some time to come. But it is apparent that in the end even this would be thrown off. Today the people of Canada are virtually as independent as the people of the United States. They rule themselves. They make their own laws, raise their own armies. If they were to declare in favor of severing the tie which binds them to England all the world knows they would be permitted to go without restraint. Great Britain holds Canada through the loyalty and mother country love of the Canadians, not through NATIONAL ALLEGIANCE. As long as Spain can hold Cuba in the same way Cuba will owe nominal allegiance to the crown. But it requires no prophetic power to forsee a "These amendments, if agreed to, Cuba in which all relics of loyalty are destroyed, all loyalty to Spain abondoned. The question then becomes simply one of the ability of the Cuban people to rule themselves. They may or may not prove equal to the emergency. The guiding hand of the United States may help them to pass safely through the transition period in which a new nation is being securely established. Perhaps the probabilities are that ere many years have passed the United States would find it necessary to take actual as well as moral control. This is a contingency of which the president is even now not unmindful. Indeed, there are members of the administration who believe Cuba will, in less than four years, be a colony of the United States.

Acquisition of Cuba is not the purpose of our policy, but it may easily become an incident thereof. Minister Woodford is instructed to state most explicitly to the Spanish government that the United tSates is not actuated by a spirit of conquest or aggrandizement. Stress is laid upon this in General Woodford's instructions, because on the other side of the water diplo-matists have no other thought than that the United States is trying to grab Cuba. Land-hungry themselves, eagerly reaching out for territory wherever they can lay hands upon it, the European powers cannot under-stand why the United States should not step in and take Cuba. Any one of them would do so were they in our place.
Our proposed annexation of Hawali will intensify the European conviction amount of $350,000 will be thereby that at last the United States has joined in the struggle for new terriwas presented by Mr. Grady. It it distinctly understood this is not a game of grab and greed. He wishes the world to know that our motive is a higher one, that it has to do more with the establishment of free government and the development of western of this nation.

DOESN'T WANT WAR.

The president's policy is distinctly one of peace. He does not wish to make war, but rather to suppress war. He does not plan to rob Spain of her colony, but feels it his duty to insist that the colony shall not be destroyed merely to satisfy Spain's pride. Under present conditions Cuba is worthless chance to develop her resources and to Spain. If retention of nominal sovereignty is an effective sop to Spain's much-vaunted pride, the president does and industrially progressive peoples of not object to it. But active control must pass to the hands of the Cubans themselves. President McKinley believes Spain can be brought to a realization of the fact that as a subject colony Cuba is lost to the crown forever, and that this revolution can be effected without war between Spain and the United States. Already there convince the Madrid government that is talk that Spain will anticipate the the freight train is coming and to in- action of the United States by offer-

Others are not so hopeful of a peaceful solution. Dupuy de Lome, as will not be necessary for the United Spain's bluffer in America, has so assiduously cultivated the idea that any intervention means war that many observers here belive the president's policy, if persisted in, will inevitably lead to rostilities. It may be said, how ever, that the administration will go ahead, no matter what attitude be assumed by Spain. If Spain will not intractable. If they place themselves gracefully accept the inevitable this country is willing to incur any responsibilities that may arise.

OPINION SOVEREIGN.

Minister Woodford will be able to show the Spanish ministry that in the United States public opinion demands action. The best evidence of that is found in the belligerency resolutions which passed the senate by a large majority, and which would go through tlement which the president now has the house with a tremendous vote were it not for the prevailing understanding that the executive is preparing to move. General Woodford will be able to show that the president has restrained congress thus far, but cannot restrain it beyond next December unless Spain meanwhile co-operates in a settlement requiring much time and presenting of the problem. He will be able to show them that this is a country in which public opinions rules, and that in this Cuban matter the president could not continually restrain congress if he would and would not if he could. Under the circumstances, it would be easy for Spanish statesmen to realize that any aggresisve policy framed by the president will have the enthusiastic support of congress and this country.

On account of the absence of the queen regent from Madrid during the hot season, it is not likely Minister Woodford can be presented at court which is animated by the true spirit and begin his official work before the first of September. The most serious part of his task for some time to come consists of informal representations ward there will be intense anxiety throughout the world as to the attitude
